This thirteenth edition of the University of Nebraska at Omaha Fact Book has been designed to present a variety of information and data, about the University, in a concise, easily used format. I hope this provides a profile of UNO that will expand your understanding of our institution.

I wish to thank the many individuals and departments at the University for their contributions to the Fact Book. Sources for the data are listed at the bottom of each table and illustration, and the cooperation of these sources made the project possible.

Finally, again we solicit your comments and suggestions on the Fact Book so future issues will be more helpful to you.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA AT OMAHA

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

The primary purposes of the University of Nebraska at Omaha are, first, to maintain a faculty of dynamic teacher-scholars of high character and competence who will inspire able and willing students to achieve to the maximum of their abilities; and, second, to provide classroom, laboratory, and library facilities adequately equipped to produce an environment conducive to learning of the highest order.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION

With a student body of approximately 16,500, the University strives to treat each student as an individual, giving attention to the student's background, problems, and aspirations. The UNO student population is a diverse mix of full and part-time students, men and women, and traditional and non-traditional age enrollees. Students come from all walks of life, including from business professionals to international students. Such broad backgrounds of experience enrich the classroom atmosphere. Ample opportunity is provided for specialized study in terms of interest, talent, and ultimate vocational objective. Thus, the University is concerned that its graduates be good citizens who earn a better living and live a richer, fuller life.

The University of Nebraska at Omaha is one of the four campuses of the University of Nebraska system. The other three campuses are the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, the University of Nebraska Medical Center, and the University of Nebraska at Kearney.

The University of Nebraska at Omaha is the administrative home of six colleges: Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Continuing Studies, Education, Fine Arts, and Public Affairs and Community Service. In addition, four colleges administered by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, (Agriculture, Architecture, Engineering & Technology and Human Resources & Family Sciences) have a substantial in-resident program on the campus. Finally, UNO offers full range of graduate programs under the administrative aegis of the University-wide Graduate College.

The University, in addition to offering courses for college credit, designs training courses for thousands of business and industrial employees; provides in-service training for elementary and secondary school teachers; conducts television classes for college credit on both commercial television and its own educational channel (KYNE-TV); and sponsors a wide variety of conferences, workshops, lectures, and fine art events to enrich the college credit offerings.

The Dean of International Studies and Programs coordinates opportunities for teaching and obtaining research outside the United States. The Dean coordinates frequently through the University's network of sister institutions in Germany, Japan, the Philippines, Romania, and Czechoslovakia, and through exchange programs with China, Austria, Russia, Belgium, and Mexico.

The University of Nebraska at Omaha is a commuter campus, and has no on-campus housing for students.

HISTORY

What is now the University of Nebraska at Omaha was founded in 1908 as the University of Omaha, a private non-sectarian college, with a campus at 24th and Pratt Streets in northeast Omaha. The first term of the co-educational college began in 1909, under the leadership of Dr. Daniel E. Jenkins, with twenty students.

The movement to make the University a municipal institution began in 1929, and in May, 1930 the citizens of Omaha voted to establish the Municipal University of Omaha. In the summer of 1930, the Omaha Board of Education selected the first University Board of Regents who were inducted into office on July 1, 1930. In January, 1931 the new Board of Regents took over the University of Omaha and its properties.

The expansion of the Municipal University of Omaha in the early 1930's led to a decision to move the campus to a 52-acre site southwest of Dodge and 60th Streets. In November 1936, the University secured a grant from the Works Progress Administration which, together with some accrued building funds, financed the construction of a Georgian-style building. This building, now called Arts and Sciences Hall, was finished in 1938 and served as the sole campus building until the 1950's.

In July 1968, the citizens of Omaha voted to transfer all University property to the University of Nebraska, and the former Municipal University of Omaha became the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

The University began rapid growth when it became a part of the University of Nebraska System. Enrollment was 8,730 in Fall, 1967 which was the last year as the Municipal University of Omaha. Three years later, enrollment was 13,185, a growth of 51 percent in the first three years as the University of Nebraska at Omaha. Fall, 1993 enrollment was 16,536.

The Dodge Street campus has expanded from its original 52 acres to the current 88.5 acres. Recent new structures on the Dodge Street campus are the Fine Arts building, the Durham Science Center, and the Henningson Memorial Campanile, a bell tower rising nearly one hundred seventy feet.

ACCREDITATIONS

The University of Nebraska at Omaha is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and has programs which are accredited or approved by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education, the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs, the National Council on Social Work Education, the Engineers Council for Professional Development, Technology Accreditation Commission/Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology, National Association for Industrial Technology, the American Home Economics Association (for undergraduate programs), the American Dietetic Association, the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business, the National Association of School of Music, the National Association of Schools of Public Affairs and Administration, the Educational Standards Board of the Board of Examiners in Speech-Language Pathology and Audiology, the National Recreation and Park Association/American Association for Leisure and Recreation and the American Chemical Society.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
General Information

The University Library offers many services to its users and contains materials and facilities for study and research. The collection includes over 642,000 volumes, more than 1,300,000 microforms items, 7,000 pieces of audio-visual material, and more than 3,000 serial subscriptions, including almost 200 newspapers from around the world. As a government document depository, the University Library collects most federal and Nebraska state publications. Nearly all of the Library's collection is on open shelves and is arranged according to the Library of Congress classification system. The holdings of the Library are available on-line through UNO's General Information System (GENISYS). GENISYS is available through terminals in the library, via Ethernet, and by modem from remote locations. Many databases are available for searching on CD-ROM. Access to LEXIS/NEXIS, UNCOVER, DATATIMES, and other on-line databases are also available.

NON-CREDIT PROGRAMS

College of Continuing Studies

The college of Continuing Studies (CCS) at UNO offers both credits and non-credit activities for persons wishing to continue their education. The College offers an extensive schedule of evening, summer, and off-campus credit classes for those who must work, but wish to pursue a college degree. CCS offers the Bachelor of General Studies degree, as well as non-credit programs and courses for those who have special interests. Conferences and institutes are offered, serving local and national professional groups and associations, and business, academic, and community needs.

Center for Public Affairs Research

The Center for Public Affairs Research (CPAR) is the major research component of the College of Public Affairs and Community Service. The Center has a full-time professional staff conducting research on a broad range of current community problems and issues of local, regional, state and national concern.

CPAR also administers a program of student research internship in conjunction with the departments of the College. CPACS students are invited to serve research internships at the Center in order to gain applied research experience.

Nebraska Business Development Center

The Nebraska Business Development Center (NBDC) was founded in 1977. It is a "small business development center," partially funded by the U.S. Small Business Administration. Since 1978, NBDC basic service centers have been established at the UNO Peter Kiewit Conference Center, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, University of Nebraska at Kearney, Wayne State College, Chadron State College, Peru State College, Mid-Plains Community College in North Platte, in Scottsbluff, and at the Omaha Business and Technology Center. The state-wide coordination is provided through the Omaha center, located in UNO's College of Business Administration.

NBDC delivers management and technical assistance through its own staff, faculty of its member institutions, faculty of other colleges in the state, and through consultants from the private sector. NBDC's consulting services have focused on marketing, management and financial management. There also has been substantial demand for marketing research and financial forecasting.

Through its workshops and seminars, NBDC provides the Nebraska business community continuing education in business management. The program for workshops and seminars is managed from the Omaha NBDC office.

In addition to its consultation and training programs, NBDC maintains support services for the benefit of both small business owners and their employees and advisers. These include:

1. NBDC Report, which is a management brief published monthly and distributed to more than 20,000 business owners and managers in Nebraska.
2. A comprehensive small business library maintained at the NBDC office in Omaha.
3. The NBDC Microcomputer Training Center teaches the use of personal computers to solve business problems. Classes are available to businesses of all sizes. A fee is charged.
4. Nebraska Business Calendar is published annually and includes federal and state tax due dates as well as other useful information.
5. Specialized financial consulting assistance, including packaging of SBA loans and valuation appraisal of closely held businesses.

The Nebraska Business Development Center houses the membership services office for the national Association of Small Business Development Centers. It has also received national recognition for its programs in rural business development and women business ownership.

In 1993, NBDC provided in-depth assistance to 618 small businesses and short-term assistance to 1,638 businesses. It also conducted 86 workshops with 2,370 participants. These services were provided to businesses from 258 Nebraska towns.

Center for Management of Information Technology

The Center for Management of Information Technology (CMIT) provides economic development support to the information technology dependent industries in Nebraska. Founded in 1989 as the International Center for Telecommunications Management, the Center was reorganized in 1993 to broaden its focus. It is supported by the State of Nebraska through the Nebraska Research Initiative.

CMIT provides research and credit and non-credit instruction in the fields of information systems, distributed computing, network applications, software, information management design, and related areas. Its faculty teach in and coordinate research efforts with the Department of Information Systems and Quantitative Analysis in the College of Business Administration, the Department of Computer Science in the College of Arts and Sciences, and the Department of Psychology in the College of Arts and Sciences.
